

HumanProgress

Weekly Links

News:

- Uganda Declares an End to Ebola Outbreak
- Microsoft's \$10Bn Bet on ChatGPT Developer Marks New Era of AI
- Can Science Finally Create a Decent Cup of Decaf?
- The Democratic Republic of the Congo Certified Free of Guinea Worm Transmission by WHO
- Dementia Treatment on the Horizon after Scientists Discover How to Replace Brain Cells
- How Virtual Reality Could Help People Cope with Anxiety
- Saudi Arabia Is Making Historic Strides in Women's Rights
- Artificial Nerve Cells – Almost Like Biological
- Scientists Steer Lightning Bolts with Lasers for the First Time
- U.S. Will No Longer Require Animal Testing for New Drugs
- Beavers to Be Reintroduced in Hampshire for First Time in 400 Years
- 3D Printing Reaches New Heights with Two-Story Home
- Artificial Pancreas Successfully Helps Type 2 Diabetes Patients Manage Blood Sugar Levels
- Amazon Expands Prime Delivery Service to More Web Stores
- Moderna Says RSV Vaccine Is 84% Effective at Preventing Disease in Older Adults
- New Killer CRISPR System Is Unlike Any Scientists Have Seen
- Cougars Are Heading East
- Wirral Fishermen in Dreamland as River Mersey Makes a Comeback
- Rare, Critically Endangered Gecko Making Dramatic Recovery in Caribbean

Curiosities:

- Brutality of Prehistoric Life Revealed by Europe's Bog Bodies
- Humans Haven't Evolved for Cold, Yet Dominate Northern Climates
- Forest Lizards Genetically Morph to Survive Life in the City

Tweets:

- There are no "natural" resources
- Real environmentalism doesn't always line up with green aesthetics
- New Boston Dynamics demo
- You can buy an engineered plant to clean your home
- Paul Ehrlich, wrong again
- India may have already surpassed China in population
- Modern metal making

Facebook

Twitter

Instagram

YouTube

Email