

HumanProgress

Weekly Links

News:

- Groundbreaking Brain Implants Restore Hand Control — and Hope — for Paralyzed Man
- Tiger Populations Grow in India and Bhutan
- What If We Could Get Rid of Menopause?
- Robot Mowers Could Be Better for Your Lawn — and the Environment
- Chance Discovery Helps Fight against Malaria
- Solar Panels Could Be About to Get Much Better at Capturing Sunlight
- Scientists Discover the Genetic Switch to Induce “Virgin Births” in Fruit Flies
- Bionic Arm Helps Boy without Arm Hold Fishing Rod
- How This Virginia Aquaculture Farm Raises Four Million Oysters for Market
- The Biggest Scientific Challenges That AI Is Already Helping to Crack
- Amazon Rolls Out Its Virtual Health Clinic Nationwide
- UK’s First Drone Mail Service Begins in Orkney
- Two CRISPR Treatments for Alzheimer’s Ace Early Studies
- Pig Cooling Pads and Weather Forecasts for Cows Are High-Tech Ways to Make Meat in a Warming World
- New Ultrasound Therapy Could Help Treat Alzheimer’s, Cancer
- Lab-Grown Meat Companies Want a World of Steak without Slaughter
- AI Use in Breast Cancer Screening as Good as Two Radiologists, Study Finds
- Trans-Atlantic Joint Venture Aims to Build New “International” Space Station
- Webb Telescope Spots Water in a Nearby Planetary System
- Novel Vaccine against Lyme Disease Reported to Be Safe and Effective

Curiosities:

- From Culinary Dud to Stud: How Dutch Plant Breeders Built Our Brussels Sprouts Boom

Tweets:

- Farming robots
- Why is there so much plastic in the ocean?
- The antidote to "climate anxiety"
- Decarbonization in the United States
- Salmon sushi was invented in the 1980s
- The world is burning less, not more
- Welcome to the Golden Age of Beer
- Scuba rice

Were you forwarded this newsletter? Sign up here.

Facebook

Twitter

Instagram

YouTube

Email